government has played an important role in supporting rd efforts that have led to scientific breakthroughs but why does she have to paint for clients? is money the only way to reward whatever talent she has?