Jarecki quoted Dostoyevsky, who said one can judge a society by the quality of its prisons. Many times it may be difficult to drag your son or daughter away from the games. If Sanacora and like-minded researchers are right, we may be on the cusp of a sea change that allows for a similar approach to mental health.