if the kh kit is accurate to - 0.5 dkh and the ph kit is - 0.2 units, the range of co2 values read from the table can be quite large the usual reasons for crying include hunger, wet or dirty nappy, being over tired, the need to socialise, or being too hot or cold