pseudofolliculitis barbae is a chronic condition that can persist as long as the individual shaves, waxes, threads, and/or tweezes.

One would think that any Turkish political leader seeking to distance Turks from a Holocaust would want to avoid racial biology as an explanation for anything.

I haven’t used coconut oil on my skin yet and I’m very curious about it.

When edging, it often helps to vary the rhythm when approaching the ultimate release.

A little too eager to prescribe medications, and in my darker moments I’ve wondered how easy it would be.