the two measuring points are not at the same height, and also not in a plane perpendicular to the sagittal plane.

portion of the support member either directly or dispersed in a matrix when applied to the oral mucosa.