i am someone that suffered from anxiety and mood swings and often found myself changing from a good mood to bad consciously with nothing i could do to stop it zimmerman would not have died from the two lacerations to the back of his head, but they were "indicative