you would think that if they pay to train you to get a better job they would help you get the job you were trained for farmer was intimately familiar with the school, having served as dean of the rutgers school of law-newark