what's so attractive about these drugs that are typically used to treat ADHD? They are believed to increase alertness, focus, and attention.