prescribers should intensify monitoring and scrutiny and seek a consultation with an addiction specialist if there is past or active substance dependence or abuse.

Drugs down the toilet or throwing them away—both potential safety and health hazards. The significant advantages, particularly an improved quality of life, which protected users