the basic substance for use in one or more populations of the capsule of the invention may include up to about 80 by weight of basic substance of the bead, pellet, tablet or granule